My dear brothers and sisters in the Risen Christ,

Happy Easter! “This is the day the Lord has made, let us rejoice and be glad.” This is the Psalm the Church sings on Easter Sunday morning. It recalls the Old Testament victory of King David ascending to his throne in Jerusalem in glorious triumph. He was rejected by his friends and fellow countrymen and also violently opposed by his enemies. Yet, God in His goodness vindicated him. David prefigures Jesus Christ. This is a fitting song to sing as we praise Christ. After an earthly battle with the powers of darkness that did their worst, “God raised Him from the dead, releasing Him from the agony of death, because it was impossible for death to keep its hold on Him.” (Acts 2:24)

The whole Church resounds again Easter morning as we claim the truth anew “Christ is Risen”! We can never grow tired of or exhaust its riches. The glorious news “Christ is Risen” has permeated every age since the time of the apostles down to this present moment, which is our moment. God has done for us what we could never do for ourselves; “He has ransomed us from the kingdom of darkness and brought us into the kingdom of the Son He loves.” (Col 1:13) We celebrate Easter because of God’s mercy and compassion; His great desire for friendship with each of us. We access this new life through the waters of baptism. Then every life must accept and grow in the new life Christ provides. This is why we need to proclaim again this year our own baptismal promises at Mass on Easter, and accept and claim Christ anew.

For me this Easter takes on a very personal meaning. With the death of my dad this past February 4, I came face to face with the finality of death in a very personal way. Many people I have known and loved have died and I have suffered their loss, but I have now learned what I have heard before about the death of a parent as my family learns to live in a new way without my dad here with us. It is particularly trying for my mom, who was married for 58 years to my father. Their marriage was a blessing to my brother, sisters and me, and although our mom has so many happy memories, we now witness her suffering from this loss in a way that hurts us children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, too. Gratefully, her faith is strong, as is ours; I cannot imagine going through this without my knowledge and belief in the resurrection of Jesus; the gift of faith is such a blessing in life. I am doubly grateful for the gift of faith this Easter! The meaning of Scripture has come alive for me in a vivid way. I take comfort in the promise that what Christ has accomplished by His death and resurrection is my hope and I will see my father face to face again. “Life is changed, not ended.” As we pray in the Preface for the Funeral Mass.

Yes, Christ is our hope, and brings light into every darkness. This reality effects every aspect of our life and the life of our Church and world, too. I take comfort that the resurrection of Christ is the hope of all who need Him. We need to choose to listen to the words of the Risen Christ before He ascended into heaven,” I will be with you always, even until the end of time.” Christ asks us as His faithful disciples to share this hope with so many in our Church and world who need that hope, too; this is our mission. Yes, the resurrection is not only for us, or for our last day, but also a prism for everyone to see rightly the things of everyday life, especially the brokenness of sin and the consequences and effects of sinful actions which seem so prevalently visible to all in our day.

The resurrection is God’s promise to us that sin, sickness and death do not get the last word. No, Christ is risen and has filled even our darkest hours with the light of hope and the conviction that in God all things will be made well. This is not pious other worldly talk. Rather, this is the foundation on which the Church of Christ has been built upon by the witness of the first Apostles.

My brothers and sisters in Christ, now is our time to put into practice this powerful news of the resurrection, and thanks be to God, you are already doing just that. Our diocese is blessed with so many faithful, good disciples, striving to remake our world over in the image desired by God Himself and for which He created it. God bless you for all you are doing to build a civilization of love!

When Peter and John ran to that Easter tomb, they were confronted with an emptiness that called them to make an act of faith; we are told “they saw and believed.” That act of faith changed everything. This Easter you and I are called to make our act of faith again, particularly as we renew our baptismal promises. We need to affirm again that it is all true. We have a hope and destiny that must illuminate everything we see and do. The world needs our witness of hope. The world needs the Good News of the Resurrection!

Please know of my love and affection for all of you. I am blessed to be with you here and to serve the people of God in this portion of his vineyard, the Church of Metuchen. I appreciate, too, your expression of Easter faith to me and my family at the time of my father’s death. We are living in the hope of resurrection. ”One day we shall see him again.”

May the Risen Christ fill your hearts and minds with the peace the world cannot give. This is the day the Lord has made, let us rejoice and be glad!

+ James F. Checchio
